

THE WORLD.

Published by the Press Publishing Company.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 21.

SUBSCRIPTION TO THE EVENING EDITION
(Including Postage),
PER MONTH.....$1.00
PER YEAR.....$10.00

VOL. 29.....NO. 9,955

Entered at the Post-Office at New York as second-class mail matter.

Here's a "High-Water Mark."

The Actual Bona-Fide Number
of "Worlds" Printed and Sold
Wednesday Nov. 7, 1888, Was 580,205.

J. B. McGUFFIN,
Supt. of Mail and Delivery Dept.
W. H. NEWMAN,
Foreman Press-Room.

Personally appeared before me this 8th day of November, 1888, J. B. McGUFFIN, Superintendent of Mail and Delivery Department, and W. H. NEWMAN, Foreman Press-Room of THE WORLD, who, being sworn, do depose and say that the foregoing statement is true and correct.

JOHN D. ARTHUR,
Commissioner of Deeds.

A Record Never Before Achieved
by an American Newspaper.

THE WHITECHAPEL FIEND AGAIN.

An attempted murder in the Whitechapel district, supposed to be by the fiend who has committed the former crimes, upsets the calculations of the police as to the guilt of their present prisoner, Dr. TWOMBLY, and throws the women of London into a fever of alarm. The intended victim in this case escaped from the assassin's hands with her life and may recover. This is the butcher's first failure, if it was really his act, and there is good hope that the full description of the ruffian obtained from the woman may at last lead to his detection.

The details of the murderous assault are given in our special cable despatch. It will be noticed that the man who saw the would-be assassin as he fled after the alarm was raised describe him as short and stout, while the woman says he was tall. Both accounts agree that he wore a light mustache. It is to be hoped that the mystery may now be unravelled. At all events, the description given of the man by his intended victim, who would have been the tenth in number had his assault been fatal, may put a stop to his horrible pursuit for a time at least, even if the blundering London police do not succeed in running him down.

POWDERLY'S VICTORY.

The great labor organization is to be congratulated on the wise action of the General Assembly at its meeting at Indianapolis. General Master Workman POWDERLY has been successful in all he has attempted, the constitution has been amended in accordance with his suggestions and the local troubles which have threatened to disrupt the order have been happily put in the way of settlement. Mr. POWDERLY has pursued a dignified, conservative course throughout in a very delicate and complicated situation. Where radical differences existed a fair compromise has been reached, and the Knights of Labor cannot fail to be strengthened as an organization by the new departure.

It would have been a misfortune for the working people of the country if this great association had been disrupted and destroyed by internal dissensions. As it is, the quarrels that have arisen, now that they have been disposed of, will only serve to make the Order stronger, wiser and more harmonious in the future. Let it continue to be controlled by honest leaders and guided by conservative councils, and it will be of more value than ever to the cause of labor all over the country.

MILLINER AND MILLIONAIRE.

The suit for damages in a breach of promise case now being tried at Beaver, Pa., is interesting as well as instructive. The parties to the suit are a milliner and a millionaire. The millionaire is Mr. HENRY C. FAY, and he has got into his present trouble "all for love of ELIZA." Mrs. ELIZA A. HIBBARD wants him to apply a $100,000 plaster to her wounded affections, he having, as she claims, lacerated her heart by failing to keep his pledge to marry her widowhood and place her at the head of the FAY household.

The tale, and more than forty widow gave a touching history of FAY's advances in love-making. He commenced by sitting by her side on the grass at a picnic; but the wily widow prudently called a mature matron to come and sit between them. Then, as President of the Town Council, Mr. FAY had a crosswalk built to the widow's store. Over this walk the gallant widower came to woo, and many were the endearing words he breathed in the widow's ear. The oracle came over a game of checkers, when he took both the plump HIBBARD hands in his own, put his face close to hers and whispered: "You will take me to be yours for life."

Then the widow murmured the reply, "I expect so," and the preparations for the wedding were commenced. Mr. FAY has yet to tell his story. But his counsel did not score a point yesterday when he impudently asked a witness, the plaintiff's pretty daughter, which of her wigs the widow wore when Mr. FAY came courtship. The case developed that ELIZA only false bangs and that her main body of hair is her own. The question was so evidently spiteful that it made a bad impression on the jury. The trial is still proceeding.

COL. LAMONT'S BABY.

Col. LAMONT's wife has presented him with a brand-new baby. This time it is a boy, and it is said that the Washington gossip has already named it DANIEL GROVER LAMONT. But why not put the GROVER first? It has been a lucky name—at least until very recently—and it will distinguish the younger LAMONT from the elder in future years without the awkward addition of the "jr."

Master LAMONT will not enjoy a long Washington experience. He will not remain there long enough to be in danger of the disease of the "big head," and he will feel no regret at taking his departure, provided his bottle is well filled. Yet his experience at the seat of Government will be a story to be told in after life to his own little DANIEL GROVER, and his place of birth will probably make him envied by the companions of his school-boy days.

We offer our congratulations to the Colonel and his wife, and may their Washington baby be a blessing to them wherever their future lot may be cast.

Col. O. C. SABIN, of Omaha, is a sensible as well as a brave man. He went to Elgin, Ill., last Monday, with the intention of killing Dr. A. M. STONE, a prominent dentist, on sufficient provocation of a family nature, as a confession written by Mrs. SABIN proves. Finding the dentist a miserable poltroon, the Colonel simply used his revolver to compel him to leave the house and enter a carriage with him. Driving to a convenient spot, Col. SABIN threw away his weapon, to escape temptation, and then belabored the dentist in a manner that will lay him up for some time and disfigure him for life.

JAMES M. DOUGHERTY has been pronounced insane and committed to Ward's Island. Let it be proclaimed far and wide, throughout two continents, however, that he is not pronounced a lunatic because he loves MARY ANDERSON, but because he believes that MARY loves him. This announcement is demanded in justice to the insanity experts of the city of New York.

THE BIGGEST NUISANCE

and Its Remedy will be the topic of the next discussion in the columns of THE EVENING WORLD. Here's a chance to point out desired reforms, national, municipal, political, commercial, social, etc. All communications should be made brief and pithy.

WORLDLINGS.

Mrs. Harrison's full name, as she signs it, is Caroline Scott Harrison.

Levi P. Morton, Vice-President elect, received his business training in the dry-goods trade, and it was not until he had amassed a competence in that line of trade that he became a banker.

The smallest in stature of Wisconsin's delegation to the next Congress is "Doc" La Follette, of the Third District. He is also the most eloquent member of the delegation, and is skillful—persuading an audience as a jury.

PRACTICAL EARLY CLOSING.

The Dry-Goods Clerks' Association Meets the Employers' Half Way.

The Dry-Goods Clerks' Early-Closing and Benevolent Association, East Side Branch, has taken a new departure in the movement to establish shorter and more reasonable hours.

The Association proposes that the stores in the district bounded by First avenue, Avenue B, Grand and Twenty-third streets shall, after Jan. 1, close at 7 p. m. on Tuesdays, Thursdays, Saturdays and Sundays.

Nearly all of the stores in the district have agreed to the change, which leaves the proprietors free to keep open late on the evening of Mondays and Saturdays.

It is well-known fact that but very little business is done after 6 p. m. on the four days in the week after Monday, and the proprietors, recognizing this fact, are willing to close at 7 p. m.

The clerks and saleswomen are now compelled to work from fourteen to sixteen hours, six days in the week. The public on the east side is in sympathy with the movement, and the officers of the Association are confident of success. J. B. Fox is the President and L. A. Soloshin Secretary of the Association.

Pottery Knights Out on Strike.

Nearly one hundred workmen went on strike at the Delaware Pottery, Trenton, today, because the firm refused to discharge five men who were indebted in their dues to the Knights of Labor.

Among the Workers.

John McNamee was elected a member of the Artistic Committee.

There are 25,000 members in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

The Food-Producers' Section and the Metal-Workers' Section met to-night.

The Jewish Chorus Union reported that the management of Poodle's Theatre refused to pay its share of the expenses of the union.

Progressive Musical Union No. 1 reported that United Phonographs and Bakers' Union No. 1, Incorporated, "seal" musicians at their tails.

The Miscellaneous Section last night admitted delegates from the Western Association of Silk Ribbon Weavers and the Jewish Chorus Union.

Men employed in the copper shop of Hamilton & Worsley's brewery deny a report that the rate of wages is increased and the rate of wages is reduced.

The Printing Trades Section, at its meeting last night, instructed its Artistic Committee to wait on the proprietors of the Police Gazette and ascertain why his pressmen are not paid union wages.

Three members of the Cigar-makers' International Union have been elected as representatives in the Legislative Council of the city of New York. They are F. B. Gill, of Grand Rapids, Mich.; W. H. McKinstry, of Muskegon, Mich.; and Adolph Mader, of St. Louis.

THE WORLD: WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 21, 1888.

Published by the Press Publishing Company.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 21.

SUBSCRIPTION TO THE EVENING EDITION
(Including Postage),
PER MONTH.....$1.00
PER YEAR.....$10.00

VOL. 29.....NO. 9,955

Entered at the Post-Office at New York as second-class mail matter.

Here's a "High-Water Mark."

The Actual Bona-Fide Number
of "Worlds" Printed and Sold
Wednesday Nov. 7, 1888, Was 580,205.

J. B. McGUFFIN,
Supt. of Mail and Delivery Dept.
W. H. NEWMAN,
Foreman Press-Room.

Personally appeared before me this 8th day of November, 1888, J. B. McGUFFIN, Superintendent of Mail and Delivery Department, and W. H. NEWMAN, Foreman Press-Room of THE WORLD, who, being sworn, do depose and say that the foregoing statement is true and correct.

JOHN D. ARTHUR,
Commissioner of Deeds.

A Record Never Before Achieved
by an American Newspaper.

THE WHITECHAPEL FIEND AGAIN.

An attempted murder in the Whitechapel district, supposed to be by the fiend who has committed the former crimes, upsets the calculations of the police as to the guilt of their present prisoner, Dr. TWOMBLY, and throws the women of London into a fever of alarm. The intended victim in this case escaped from the assassin's hands with her life and may recover. This is the butcher's first failure, if it was really his act, and there is good hope that the full description of the ruffian obtained from the woman may at last lead to his detection.

The details of the murderous assault are given in our special cable despatch. It will be noticed that the man who saw the would-be assassin as he fled after the alarm was raised describe him as short and stout, while the woman says he was tall. Both accounts agree that he wore a light mustache. It is to be hoped that the mystery may now be unravelled. At all events, the description given of the man by his intended victim, who would have been the tenth in number had his assault been fatal, may put a stop to his horrible pursuit for a time at least, even if the blundering London police do not succeed in running him down.

POWDERLY'S VICTORY.

The great labor organization is to be congratulated on the wise action of the General Assembly at its meeting at Indianapolis. General Master Workman POWDERLY has been successful in all he has attempted, the constitution has been amended in accordance with his suggestions and the local troubles which have threatened to disrupt the order have been happily put in the way of settlement. Mr. POWDERLY has pursued a dignified, conservative course throughout in a very delicate and complicated situation. Where radical differences existed a fair compromise has been reached, and the Knights of Labor cannot fail to be strengthened as an organization by the new departure.

It would have been a misfortune for the working people of the country if this great association had been disrupted and destroyed by internal dissensions. As it is, the quarrels that have arisen, now that they have been disposed of, will only serve to make the Order stronger, wiser and more harmonious in the future. Let it continue to be controlled by honest leaders and guided by conservative councils, and it will be of more value than ever to the cause of labor all over the country.

MILLINER AND MILLIONAIRE.

The suit for damages in a breach of promise case now being tried at Beaver, Pa., is interesting as well as instructive. The parties to the suit are a milliner and a millionaire. The millionaire is Mr. HENRY C. FAY, and he has got into his present trouble "all for love of ELIZA." Mrs. ELIZA A. HIBBARD wants him to apply a $100,000 plaster to her wounded affections, he having, as she claims, lacerated her heart by failing to keep his pledge to marry her widowhood and place her at the head of the FAY household.

The tale, and more than forty widow gave a touching history of FAY's advances in love-making. He commenced by sitting by her side on the grass at a picnic; but the wily widow prudently called a mature matron to come and sit between them. Then, as President of the Town Council, Mr. FAY had a crosswalk built to the widow's store. Over this walk the gallant widower came to woo, and many were the endearing words he breathed in the widow's ear. The oracle came over a game of checkers, when he took both the plump HIBBARD hands in his own, put his face close to hers and whispered: "You will take me to be yours for life."

Then the widow murmured the reply, "I expect so," and the preparations for the wedding were commenced. Mr. FAY has yet to tell his story. But his counsel did not score a point yesterday when he impudently asked a witness, the plaintiff's pretty daughter, which of her wigs the widow wore when Mr. FAY came courtship. The case developed that ELIZA only

THE WORLD: WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 21, 1888.

Published by the Press Publishing Company.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 21.

SUBSCRIPTION TO THE EVENING EDITION
(Including Postage),
PER MONTH.....$1.00
PER YEAR.....$10.00

VOL. 29.....NO. 9,955

Entered at the Post-Office at New York as second-class mail matter.

Here's a "High-Water Mark."

The Actual Bona-Fide Number
of "Worlds" Printed and Sold
Wednesday Nov. 7, 1888, Was 580,205.

J. B. McGUFFIN,
Supt. of Mail and Delivery Dept.
W. H. NEWMAN,
Foreman Press-Room.

Personally appeared before me this 8th day of November, 1888, J. B. McGUFFIN, Superintendent of Mail and Delivery Department, and W. H. NEWMAN, Foreman Press-Room of THE WORLD, who, being sworn, do depose and say that the foregoing statement is true and correct.

JOHN D. ARTHUR,
Commissioner of Deeds.

A Record Never Before Achieved
by an American Newspaper.

THE WHITECHAPEL FIEND AGAIN.

An attempted murder in the Whitechapel district, supposed to be by the fiend who has committed the former crimes, upsets the calculations of the police as to the guilt of their present prisoner, Dr. TWOMBLY, and throws the women of London into a fever of alarm. The intended victim in this case escaped from the assassin's hands with her life and may recover. This is the butcher's first failure, if it was really his act, and there is good hope that the full description of the ruffian obtained from the woman may at last lead to his detection.

The details of the murderous assault are given in our special cable despatch. It will be noticed that the man who saw the would-be assassin as he fled after the alarm was raised describe him as short and stout, while the woman says he was tall. Both accounts agree that he wore a light mustache. It is to be hoped that the mystery may now be unravelled. At all events, the description given of the man by his intended victim, who would have been the tenth in number had his assault been fatal, may put a stop to his horrible pursuit for a time at least, even if the blundering London police do not succeed in running him down.

POWDERLY'S VICTORY.

The great labor organization is to be congratulated on the wise action of the General Assembly at its meeting at Indianapolis. General Master Workman POWDERLY has been successful in all he has attempted, the constitution has been amended in accordance with his suggestions and the local troubles which have threatened to disrupt the order have been happily put in the way of settlement. Mr. POWDERLY has pursued a dignified, conservative course throughout in a very delicate and complicated situation. Where radical differences existed a fair compromise has been reached, and the Knights of Labor cannot fail to be strengthened as an organization by the new departure.

It would have been a misfortune for the working people of the country if this great association had been disrupted and destroyed by internal dissensions. As it is, the quarrels that have arisen, now that they have been disposed of, will only serve to make the Order stronger, wiser and more harmonious in the future. Let it continue to be controlled by honest leaders and guided by conservative councils, and it will be of more value than ever to the cause of labor all over the country.

MILLINER AND MILLIONAIRE.

The suit for damages in a breach of promise case now being tried at Beaver, Pa., is interesting as well as instructive. The parties to the suit are a milliner and a millionaire. The millionaire is Mr. HENRY C. FAY, and he has got into his present trouble "all for love of ELIZA." Mrs. ELIZA A. HIBBARD wants him to apply a $100,000 plaster to her wounded affections, he having, as she claims, lacerated her heart by failing to keep his pledge to marry her widowhood and place her at the head of the FAY household.

The tale, and more than forty widow gave a touching history of FAY's advances in love-making. He commenced by sitting by her side on the grass at a picnic; but the wily widow prudently called a mature matron to come and sit between them. Then, as President of the Town Council, Mr. FAY had a crosswalk built to the widow's store. Over this walk the gallant widower came to woo, and many were the endearing words he breathed in the widow's ear. The oracle came over a game of checkers, when he took both the plump HIBBARD hands in his own, put his face close to hers and whispered: "You will take me to be yours for life."

Then the widow murmured the reply, "I expect so," and the preparations for the wedding were commenced. Mr. FAY has yet to tell his story. But his counsel did not score a point yesterday when he impudently asked a witness, the plaintiff's pretty daughter, which of her wigs the widow wore when Mr. FAY came courtship. The case developed that ELIZA only

THE WORLD: WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 21, 1888.

Published by the Press Publishing Company.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 21.

SUBSCRIPTION TO THE EVENING EDITION
(Including Postage),
PER MONTH.....$1.00
PER YEAR.....$10.00

VOL. 29.....NO. 9,955

Entered at the Post-Office at New York as second-class mail matter.

Here's a "High-Water Mark."

The Actual Bona-Fide Number
of "Worlds" Printed and Sold
Wednesday Nov. 7, 1888, Was 580,205.

J. B. McGUFFIN,
Supt. of Mail and Delivery Dept.
W. H. NEWMAN,
Foreman Press-Room.

Personally appeared before me this 8th day of November, 1888, J. B. McGUFFIN, Superintendent of Mail and Delivery Department, and W. H. NEWMAN, Foreman Press-Room of THE WORLD, who, being sworn, do depose and say that the foregoing statement is true and correct.

JOHN D. ARTHUR,
Commissioner of Deeds.

A Record Never Before Achieved
by an American Newspaper.

THE WHITECHAPEL FIEND AGAIN.

An attempted murder in the Whitechapel district, supposed to be by the fiend who has committed the former crimes, upsets the calculations of the police as to the guilt of their present prisoner, Dr. TWOMBLY, and throws the women of London into a fever of alarm. The intended victim in this case escaped from the assassin's hands with her life and may recover. This is the butcher's first failure, if it was really his act, and there is good hope that the full description of the ruffian obtained from the woman may at last lead to his detection.

The details of the murderous assault are given in our special cable despatch. It will be noticed that the man who saw the would-be assassin as he fled after the alarm was raised describe him as short and stout, while the woman says he was tall. Both accounts agree that he wore a light mustache. It is to be hoped that the mystery may now be unravelled. At all events, the description given of the man by his intended victim, who would have been the tenth in number had his assault been fatal, may put a stop to his horrible pursuit for a time at least, even if the blundering London police do not succeed in running him down.

POWDERLY'S VICTORY.

The great labor organization is to be congratulated on the wise action of the General Assembly at its meeting at Indianapolis. General Master Workman POWDERLY has been successful in all he has attempted, the constitution has been amended in accordance with his suggestions and the local troubles which have threatened to disrupt the order have been happily put in the way of settlement. Mr. POWDERLY has pursued a dignified, conservative course throughout in a very delicate and complicated situation. Where radical differences existed a fair compromise has been reached, and the Knights of Labor cannot fail to be strengthened as an organization by the new departure.

It would have been a misfortune for the working people of the country if this great association had been disrupted and destroyed by internal dissensions. As it is, the quarrels that have arisen, now that they have been disposed of, will only serve to make the Order stronger, wiser and more harmonious in the future. Let it continue to be controlled by honest leaders and guided by conservative councils, and it will be of more value than ever to the cause of labor all over the country.

MILLINER AND MILLIONAIRE.

The suit for damages in a breach of promise case now being tried at Beaver, Pa., is interesting as well as instructive. The parties to the suit are a milliner and a millionaire. The millionaire is Mr. HENRY C. FAY, and he has got into his present trouble "all for love of ELIZA." Mrs. ELIZA A. HIBBARD wants him to apply a $100,000 plaster to her wounded affections, he having, as she claims, lacerated her heart by failing to keep his pledge to marry her widowhood and place her at the head of the FAY household.

The tale, and more than forty widow gave a touching history of FAY's advances in love-making. He commenced by sitting by her side on the grass at a picnic; but the wily widow prudently called a mature matron to come and sit between them. Then, as President of the Town Council, Mr. FAY had a crosswalk built to the widow's store. Over this walk the gallant widower came to woo, and many were the endearing words he breathed in the widow's ear. The oracle came over a game of checkers, when he took both the plump HIBBARD hands in his own, put his face close to hers and whispered: "You will take me to be yours for life."

Then the widow murmured the reply, "I expect so," and the preparations for the wedding were commenced. Mr. FAY has yet to tell his story. But his counsel did not score a point yesterday when he impudently asked a witness, the plaintiff's pretty daughter, which of her wigs the widow wore when Mr. FAY came courtship. The case developed that ELIZA only

PAINTS FOR SALE.

23d Street
Le Boutillier Brothers,
Having bought for cash a bankrupt Philadelphia manufacturer's entire stock of

SILK Hosiery,
Will commence on THURSDAY, November 22, the sale of
1,000 DOZEN

Fine Silk Stockings, comprising Ladies' pure Silk Hose, heavy and medium weight, in black, assorted shades, and Fancy Novelties; Ladies' spun Silk Hose, in black, plain colors and Fancy Boot Patterns; and a lot of Men's pure Silk Half-Hose, in black and assorted colors.

The goods were newly made for first-class retail trade by Messrs. Vickers & Weston, are of the highest grade, and will be sold at about Sixty Cents on the Dollar.

48, 50 and 52 West 23d St.

HE DROPPED FROM SIGHT. TAMMANY MEN TO GET EVEN.

Thomas Verren Unaccountably Missing Since Oct. 22.

THOMAS VERREN, missing since Oct. 22—Thomas Verren, of Brooklyn, 30 years old, height 5 feet 6, slight build, dark complexion, gray beard and mustache, quite bald. Any person having knowledge of his whereabouts, please notify William H. Brown, 206 Broadway, New York.

The missing man thus advertised is a lawyer who was once quite well known in New York, but of late years has been little seen among his friends.

His office was at 32 West Street. He lived happily with his wife and her mother in a neat frame cottage at 304 Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn.

Mr. Verren owned property in the vicinity where he lived and moved over there some years ago. He had been troubled with malaria and thought the high ground would help him.

Sept. 4 he received a telegram from Harlem saying that his brother, Henry Verren, had died that morning.

The shock was so great that he was fairly overwhelmed and he was unable to move for over half an hour.

Mr. Verren went to New York and returned in the evening with his nephew, who was a medical student.

In charge of the nephew Mr. Verren went to the cemetery next day to view the remains of his brother. He returned that night, and his wife saw that he was still much distressed.

He had not been together since then, and he had been very much distressed. He was something unusual. The brother who had died was several years younger than the missing man, and they had always been together since childhood.

Mr. Verren attended to important business the following day, and on Wednesday attended his funeral.

He was more or less ill for two weeks after the funeral, but apparently recovered and attended to his business in New York.

The day before he disappeared, Oct. 21, he stayed at home all day and seemed to be in good health.

He was born in this city, and educated in the old Trinity School in Varick street. He was admitted to the bar in 1859, practiced in this city, was married in 1873 and some years later, having made enough money to care for himself and wife, he retired from the law.

Mr. Verren died at the time he disappeared, wore a black beard, freckled, dark, striped trousers and a coat of dark velvet material. The coat was cut low, displaying a turn-of-the-century and black silk bow. He wore long French calf-knickerbockers.

He wore a black and carried his head rather proudly. In disposition, he seemed cold, but was really a warm man. He was a very kind man, and his wife, who belongs to one of the oldest French families, said of him this morning: "I can look back and say that he was one of the best men living."

He was always kind and warm-hearted, and never displayed any morbid or morose habits, and was pleased to assist me in anything."

Helping the Insurgents. HAVI's Counsel Could Not Prevent Another Charge of Remington's Gilding.

Ebenezer D. Hasset, the Haytian Consul-General, said this morning that while there could be no doubt that the 1,000 rifles and cargo of ammunition taken to Monte Christi on the Clyde steamship George W. Clyde was destined ultimately for the insurgents in Haiti, the customs authorities here could not stop them as, technically, they were legal cargo for the vessel.

This consignment, added to that of the Starhawk, gives fourteen rifles and ammunition for each man, in all 140 rifles and 14,000 rounds of ammunition. The rifles are known to be of families who also sold the rebel Gullitani in France and obtained admission to a Paris law school through the influence of Haytian Minister Fremon.

Sold Beer to a Four-Year-Old. Saloon-keeper Jacob Bent, of 108 East Houston street, was held at Essex Market Court to-day for selling a pint of beer to four-year-old Nelly Bent, daughter of his wife. A passing citizen laid the complaint.

Three Had Men Held. James E. Hirdall, Eugene Brown and Frederick Mangel were held to-day at the Yorkville Court on a charge of assault on Sophia Hofsender, servant of W. A. De Long, of 129 West Ninety-third street.

Helping the Insurgents. HAVI's Counsel Could Not Prevent Another Charge of Remington's Gilding.

Ebenezer D. Hasset, the Haytian Consul-General, said this morning that while there could be no doubt that the 1,000 rifles and cargo of ammunition taken to Monte Christi on the Clyde steamship George W. Clyde was destined ultimately for the insurgents in Haiti, the customs authorities here could not stop them as, technically, they were legal cargo for the vessel.

This consignment, added to that of the Starhawk, gives fourteen rifles and ammunition for each man, in all 140 rifles and 14,000 rounds of ammunition. The rifles are known to be of families who also sold the rebel Gullitani in France and obtained admission to a Paris law school through the influence of Haytian Minister Fremon.

Sold Beer to a Four-Year-Old. Saloon-keeper Jacob Bent, of 108 East Houston street, was held at Essex Market Court to-day for selling a pint of beer to four-year-old Nelly Bent, daughter of his wife. A passing citizen laid the complaint.

Three Had Men Held. James E. Hirdall, Eugene Brown and Frederick Mangel were held to-day at the Yorkville Court on a charge of assault on Sophia Hofsender, servant of W. A. De Long, of 129 West Ninety-third street.

Helping the Insurgents. HAVI's Counsel Could Not Prevent Another Charge of Remington's Gilding.

Ebenezer D. Hasset, the Haytian Consul-General, said this morning that while there could be no doubt that the 1,000 rifles and cargo of